A. Required Minimum Distribution from my Traditional IRA or SEP IRA

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requires that you begin receiving distributions from your Individual Retirement Account (IRA) by your required beginning date, April 1, following the year in which you become age 73 and December 31 each year thereafter. The amount of the distribution is based on calculated life expectancies determined from predefined tables. Please note that the IRS may apply substantial penalty taxes should your minimum distribution not be made in time to comply with governmental regulations. Consult your tax advisor for assistance.

Please calculate my RMD based upon the following table in IRS Publication 590 Appendix C (Check only one. If no box is checked Table III will be used to calculate your RMD):

- Uniform Lifetime Table III: For use by single and married owners whose spouses are not more than 10 years younger.
- Single Life Expectancy Table I: For use by beneficiaries.
- Joint Life Expectancy and Last Survivor Expectancy Table II: For use by owners whose spouses are more than 10 years younger and are the sole beneficiaries of their IRAs.

5. TAX WITHHOLDING ELECTION

Federal Income Tax Withholding: Withdrawals from Traditional, Rollover, SEP and SIMPLE IRA's (including inherited IRA's) will have 10% federal income tax withholding withheld from your distribution along with applicable state income tax. The law requires that federal and, in certain states, state income tax be withheld from your IRA distribution, unless you elect that withholding does not apply or elect an alternate amount by completing IRS form W-4R in its entirety and submitting it with your withdrawal request. If you elect not to have withholding apply to your distribution, you may be responsible for the payment of estimated taxes.

Note: You may wish to consult your tax advisor before waiving withholding as you may incur penalties for not paying enough tax during the year.
